

Meter Data System Monitoring

Example Dashboards

Overall system health gives an early indication of key areas which may impact the billing process

All servers overview allow a correlation between server resource usage and read rates

Real time message throughput per second indicates system latency

Message production and consumption need to be in balance to guarantee complete processing of billing records

